Are You Looking for Values

The only elements worth considering at all in any discussion of value is the amount of service that an article will give to the final users. It does not matter what the original cost was if that cost is more than the user can get from it, then that cost is too high. In considering the service-value of any article, it is our aim to also keep in mind that style is an element, and quite a large one, in the extent of service. It makes no difference how good quality an article is, if it has no style it is not worth one-half the price, neither will it bring half-price. By keeping in close touch with the market, we are able to keep our stock clean and up-to-date. See our new Spring lines in every department.

Ladies' House Dresses

The Ladies' House Dress we are talking strong on, is the "Good Service" make. This is a make of House Dresses that are made for style and service, are a make that are made with the fullness over the hips. Every seam is finished, no raw seams. You will find a Dress at $1.25 that will fit as well as the more expensive ones.

One of the Dresses we are selling many of at present is the Apron House Dress—a Dress that is made of a good quality percale and that is made full, to be worn over the afternoon dress, makes a nice cool summer dress. Only $1.00.

At $1.25 are a number of good values in Dresses that are made with a style and fit that cannot fail to please. Then, too, you will get a quality of goods that will wear and wash well.

At $1.50 and $1.75 are a couple of Dresses that we consider very good values. Are made of a quality of material that will wash nicely.

At $2.00 we will show you the best line of good values it has been our privilege to show. These are made from the best quality gingham and have got the style of the more expensive values.

Ladies' Separate Skirts

Did you ever stop to think why the M. & C. Skirt is better than other makes? HERE'S WHY! All materials strictly all wool. All materials are thoroughly shrunk and sponged. All Skirts stitched with Belding's Pure Dye Silk. All seams bound with spun glass seam binding. All pockets self-faced. All Skirts have a special made double-strength girdle binding. don't seem to curb our sale of materials for spring and summer wear. Many are quick to see the idea of buying early when stocks are new and styles are fresh.

One-quarter of the styles in Wash Goods shown to-day cannot be found for sale four weeks later. So that now is the time to get busy with these new kinds.

Our line of Salmon Batiste should look pretty good to the trade. They come in very pretty stripes and small designs. This is a cloth far better than Holly Batiste, a firmer and better finished cloth in every way. The price is 12 1/2c per yard.

A large assortment of Plain and Fancy Checked and Striped Amoskeag Gingham, new lot, now 10c per yard.

Good Things to Know About

These are kinds not to be found in every shop. Kind that may not be any better than you have been buying. We think they are:

About five dozen Pillow Shams or Table Covers, 30 inches square. These have linen insertion four inches from the edge, with two-inch linen lace edges. These we have sold a great many of during the last year and especially at Christmas time. They are very desirable and have always sold for $1.25 each. These were a special purchase and are to sell at half price, 62 1/2c each.

We cannot let you forget about our 18-inch Messalines that we are selling at 49c per yard. These are great values and the sale seems to please the trade. There are so many uses for these silks that ladies are glad to get them at this price—49c.

A full line of Mercerized Girard Poplins. This is a new quality with us. Has a silk appearance and is a good weight for tailored suits and separate skirts.

"The Substitute"—A very commendable picture in which a heroine, who will strongly appeal to spectators, saves a large invoice of gold from Mexican bandits. She was agent at a mail station in the West and, being an operator herself, had made friends with a sergeant in a U. S. cavalry troop, who also could operate the key. One day she found that her brother, an engineer on the railroad, was too drunk to do his duty. She, dressed in his overalls and went as his substitute, driving the locomotive. That afternoon there was a cargo of gold in the express car and a gang of bandits held up the train. When no one was looking, she limbed to the telegraph line, cut into it, and called up her friend the sergeant, who sent the troop of horsemen to the rescue. The band had got the gold and was ready to make off when the boys in khaki appear. They come galloping into the picture in thrilling style. The capture is made in a way that does credit to Uncle Sam's boys; they are real soldiers. The last scene, in which the sergeant comforts the girl with praises that were needed because she was suffering a nervous reaction after her gallant exploit. It's at Dreamland.
